PROFESSIONAL PROFILE

John T. Maloney has spent his nearly 40 year legal career representing professionals, businesses and individuals in and before New York's state and federal courts, administrative agencies, and licensing boards. Mr. Maloney is highly regarded by the bench and bar as an ethical, competent and fair attorney, terms which describe the attributes he uses to provide mediation and arbitration services.

In 2003, Mr. Maloney was awarded Fellowship in the American College of Trial Lawyers. Fellowship is extended by invitation only to attorneys whose careers have been marked by the highest standards of ethical conduct, professionalism, civility and collegiality. Fellowship is limited to the top one percent of the total lawyer population of any state.

In 2011, Mr. Maloney was named a Fellow of the American Bar Foundation, a designation rarely bestowed to members of the bar by their peers. The honor is imparted to attorneys who exemplify outstanding achievement and dedication to the welfare of their communities and to the highest principles of the legal profession.

Mr. Maloney's mediation and arbitration practice is focused on his areas of substantive expertise: litigation, primarily legal malpractice, personal, product and professional liability, and wrongful death.
